

ABSTRACT

A method of purifying lithium sulfide wherein lithium sulfide obtained by reacting lithium hydroxide with hydrogen sulfide in an aprotic organic solvent is washed with an organic solvent at a temperature of 100°C or higher. Impurities contained in lithium sulfide can be reduced by the method of purification.